

Flood Talk...

by Tom Coddington

March 31, 2015

A public meeting was held on March 20 at the Andes Central School, to alert residents and homeowners to the possibilities of flooding. The town's new flood commission arranged the meeting, which featured presentations by Rick Weidenbach and Graydon Dutcher of the Delaware County

Soil and Water Conservation District. In the photo, Andes resident John Andrews, at left, explains to Dutcher (seated) where his house is situated. Looking on is Andes Town Councilman Dale Cole.

